

With the Continental TKC70 the tyre manufacturer aims to give the user the best of both worlds with a sort of blend between the legendary TKC80 and Trail Attack 2. The radial and diagonal design ensures agility on and off the road. The MultiGrip® innovation of Continental provides a hard centre for good mileage and a softer shoulder for exceptional grip in corners. As with the Battle Wing the 0° steel belt construction guarantees high stability, good feedback and low “kickback”. This tyre compares with the Pirelli MT90 A/T, Mitas E-07 and Heidenau K60. It’s good for everyday road use with average to good grip in the rain and handles well on hard/loose gravel, moderate sand and little mud.
